INTERPRETATION OF SDGS - LANDSCAPE AND ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

Convenor : Prof. Jayashree Deshpande, Director CoA-TRC, Pune
Coordinator : Ar. Dhiraj Salhotra, Principal, Thakur School Architecture & Planning, Mumbai

In the realm of sustainable design, Jan Ghel aptly states, 'We shape our buildings; thereafter, they shape us.'

As we navigate the era of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), it becomes imperative for faculty in architecture and environmental studies to embark on a transformative journey. A Faculty Development Program (FDP) focused on interpretations of SDGs in these disciplines is not merely desirable but essential as a part of the teaching-learning process. The program aims to empower educators with the knowledge and skills to infuse SDG principles into the curriculum, fostering a generation of professionals who view landscapes as integral components of city building.

This FDP will delve into the nuanced intersections of landscape architecture and environmental studies, addressing how these fields can contribute to achieving SDGs. By bridging theory and practice, the program seeks to equip faculty with innovative pedagogical approaches and practical tools. Embracing Ghel's wisdom, this FDP envisions faculty as architects, shaping minds to create landscapes that, in turn, shape a sustainable and resilient future.

INTERPRETATION OF SDGS - LANDSCAPE AND ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

Council of Architecture
Training & Research Centre
TRC

tsap
Estd. 2014

Architectural education is vital in understanding environmental and social issues and increasing awareness of SDGs amongst architects and students. Therefore, this FDP-TRC focuses on educational needs to adopt sustainability in the teaching-learning process. The center of the study would be at the TSAP campus relating the curriculum, research, publication, and teachers' training together. The aim is to understand the SDGs from an architect's point of view.

Key takeaways

1. Integrated Sustainability: The program equips faculty to integrate Sustainable Development Goals into landscape architecture and environmental studies, fostering a holistic approach to sustainable design.

2. Innovative Teaching Methods: Participants gain innovative pedagogical strategies, empowering them to engage students effectively in SDG-focused learning. Through hands-on projects and case studies, faculty can inspire a new generation of professionals committed to advancing sustainability in their respective fields.
